

A good Family Child Care (FCC) offers children a chance to live and learn in an intimate, homelike setting. Children can participate in preparing meals, working in the garden, tending to animals and baking.

Good child care, whether it is a center or home-based program, should offer children the opportunity to learn and grow at their own pace with a sensitive, nurturing caregiver. Family child care is unique in that it offers the children this care on a smaller scale. This gives parents another choice in selecting the very best care for their children. Every family child care is as different as every family. If FCC might be a choice for you, visit several to find the one that meets the needs of your child and your family.

FAMILY RESOURCE GUIDE

to Early Education and Care

This pamphlet, designed as a guide for families, was composed and compiled by professionals involved in early care and education on Martha's Vineyard.

It describes common philosophies and goals for young children, describes the variety of programs available, and highlights other resources for families.

All families are encouraged to explore child care options and to visit several programs before choosing the one that best meets each family's individual needs.

View this guide online at www.mvcommunityservices.org

The early care and education community of Martha's Vineyard celebrates the uniqueness of each child. We recognize that all children learn and grow at their own individual pace. Our programs are designed to encourage positive social interactions, social consciousness and respect for each other. We support children's development of friendships and their awareness of themselves as members of a community. We believe that a strong sense of self in a child builds the foundation for learning. We understand that children are active learners. Therefore we strive to provide safe and enriched environments in which children feel free to creatively explore a variety of materials, activities, and interests.

The daily activities at Chilmark Preschool reflect these values and visions. The teachers have a strong knowledge of child development and recognize the value of predictability and consistency. They are program planners, guides, careful observers and listeners. The curriculum is not set in stone at the beginning of the year, but rather emerges from the interests and needs of the children and teachers.
